EARTHQUAKE SUFFERERS NUMBER 1,358,470

OFFICIAL REPORT IS MADE BY JAPANESE GOVERNMENT TODAY

HOUSES DESTROYED BY SHOCK, TIDAL WAVE AND FLOOD NUMBER 316,087

KNOCKING AND MUTTERING IS STILL HEARD IN PLACES OF EARTH'S SURFACE

(By MOTO TAKATA, Assistant Foreign Editor of the Osaka Mainichi)
(Written for the United Press.)

Osaka, Sept. 8—Japan's earthquake sufferers today number 1,356,470.

An official announcement to this affect has been issued. Owing to the confusion in Tokio, this city is rapidly becoming the center of Japanese official and business lfie.

The same announcement says 316,087 houses were destroyed by Saturday's shock and the tidal wave and fire that followed.

It is stated that it is still impossible to estimate accurately the number of dead, but the few official figures indicate a loss of more than 50,000 lives in Tokio and Yokohama combined. Reports from outlying districts will be slow in coming in.

Yokohama apparently has been spared the ravages of cholera thus far at least.

Alarming reports of the plague reached here yesterday, but these were not followed by any more dispatches regarding cholera, and it was hoped first reports were erroneous or exaggerated.

Relief work goes on apace. The fires are out, and rumblings have largely subsided, but still there are places where knockings and mutterings beneath the surface cause inhabitants to live in a state of perpetual terror.

The village of Gotemba near the scene of the disaster at Fuji spinning mills, which collapsed in Saturday's quake and buried hundreds of girl employees in the ruins, is a strange sight these days.

Word coming from the town, which is largely in ruins, says that when occasional rumblings occur the population, fearing Fuji is about to erupt, rush from what remains of their houses. Over their heads they hold doors from tumbled dwellings and screens of corrugated iron to protect themselves from a shower of burning ashes. Foreigners report there is little reason for apprehension, although the sacred mountain is undoubtedly disturbed, but not sufficiently to cause an eruption.

CLAIM THAT 200 FOREIGNERS MET DEATH

Washington, Sept. 8.—Radio messages from Admiral Anderson, commander of the Asiatic fleet, who is now at Tokio, informed the Navy department today that 200 foreigners were killed in the Japanese disaster; that 130 refugees, mostly Americans and British, were at Hagone, a mountain resort near Tokio; that other foreign refugees are in Kobe, and ships carrying food and medical supplies have arrived at Yokohama.

Anderson said he arrived at Yokohama September 6 aboard his flagship, the armored cruiser Huron. He reported that Ernest Johnson and Grace Hendricks, Americans, had arrived safely at Kyoto.

DESTRUCTION 100 MILES SOUTHWARD OF TOKIO

Iwaki, Sept. 8.—Tokio was three-fourths destroyed and Yokohama was almost completely wiped out by the greatest earthquake in history at noon Saturday, Sept. 1.

The fire which followed raged for two days and two nights, completely burning most of what the earthquake had left standing.

The great industrial section between Yokohama and Tokio was almost completely destroyed. The terrible destruction probably extended 100 miles or more southward from Tokio. Broken communications have made it impossible to determine with accuracy the extent of the destruction in that region.

The earthquake, it was learned, was the result of a convulsion from the great volcano of Oshima, lying off the coast near Yokohama.

The volcano, simultaneously with the earthquake, burst forth in eruption spreading destruction everywhere within its reach, and then as if its fury had been spent in one great effort it collapsed from sight into the sea. Even in its dying throes as it dropped into the water the volcano struck a blow at human life, for to its sinking was attributed the tidal wave which swept the coast.

Landslides began from the bluffs and hills as the earth crumbled, unable to withstand the strain of the tremors.

Lighter earth shocks continued for four days and nights. Communication almost throughout the whole of Japan was disrupted, but estimates—perhaps based on nothing better than guesses—made here—are that the homeless in the devastated areas will total from 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 Japanese. Most of the homeless have been rendered destitute.

The property loss cannot be estimated. Reports coming in would indicate it will include practically the whole value of every large Japanese and foreign business enterprise, the city of Tokio, practically all of Yokohama, and the intensely rich industrial and manufacturing districts of the area between these two cities and immediately surrounding them. Although few foreigners were killed in Tokio and Yokohama, estimates are that 300 foreigners lost their lives. Yokohama is almost entirely in ruins—just a vast pile of wreckage where the city once stood.

6 SHIPS REPORTED MISSING IN PACIFIC

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—Six ships are reported missing in the Pacific.

One of these is the twin screw motor ship Kennecott out of San Francisco with a crew of 40.

The Kennecott, together with the Wawalona and Westjena of Astoria were reported off Yokohama just before Saturday's quake. None of them has been heard from. It is feared they went down in the tidal wave or in a typhoon. Three other vessels, from 90 to 100 days overdue, have been given up. Their loss is not attributed to the quake, but adds to the feeling of gloom in shipping circles.

San Francisco, Sept. 8. — The Steamship Kennecott of the Alaska Steamship company, feared lost during the tidal wave off Yokohama, is reported safe, a dispatch today from Kobe said. The vessel arrived at Kobe undamaged.

FOREIGN DEATH LIST HEAVY AT YOKOHAMA

Iwaki, Japan, Sept. 8.—Although all Americans in Tokio apparently have escaped from the Japanese fire and earthquake with their lives, reports from Yokohama indicate that the foreign death list there may be heavy.

Counting nationals of all nations, it is apparent that foreign deaths in that city will mount into the hundreds, although probably not as high as some first reports indicated.

For Japanese Relief

Contributions for Japanese relief will be received by the Brainerd Dispatch and acknowledged in the paper and then transmitted to the Brainerd Chapter of the American Red Cross, which, under the terms of the proclamation of President Coolidge, is a designated relief center.

Authority for this was given the Dispatch by Mrs. J. A. Thabes of the Brainerd Red Cross. Other communities are responding and it is hoped Brainerd will give too.

On Sunday it is hoped that pastors of the city will allude to the catastrophe that has befallen Japan and to urge upon their hearers the giving of relief.

SALVATION ARMY HELPS

Japanese relief was the subject of a special letter from Colonel William S. Barker, divisional commander of the Salvation Army, Minneapolis, to the officer in Brainerd. Colonel Barker outlined an intensive campaign for the Brainerd staff, emphasizing that the corps, in an international drive, will attempt to raise $10,000,000 for relief of the disaster sufferers.

"A special appeal should be made at every open air meeting for Japanese relief," the letter states. "Sunday, Sept. 16, should be designated 'Young People's Japanese Relief Day'."

TWO WOMEN TRAP BIGAMOUS SPOUSE

ALLEN WOODS, ALSO KNOWN AS DR. PERCIVAL ALLEN, IS ARRESTED

(By United Press)

Evansville, Wis., Sept. 8.—How two women combined their energies to trap the man whom they had both married, was revealed here today by Mrs. Belle Parker, daughter of a minister, who bared her part in effecting the arrest of Allen Woods, also known as Dr. Percival Allen, in Los Angeles.

The man, according to advices from Los Angeles, was arrested Friday night.

THOUGHT TO HAVE MARRIED 5 MORE

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 8.—That the man believed to be Percival V. Allen, arrested in Los Angeles yesterday for the murder of Miss Anne E. Danielson of Minneapolis in Seattle in 1916, had gone through the form of marriage with at least five other girls with the intention of securing their property and that she was instrumental in giving authorities information which lead to his arrest was the statement made today by Miss Helen E. Posz, manager of the art department of a drug store here.

Miss Posz declared that if the Los Angeles authorities have the right man, he is the same person who, under the name of A. E. Adams, proposed to her after having seen her several times in the store. The man told her a pathetic story of how his mother died, and tried to seek her sympathy. Miss Posz treated the proposal as a joke. Allen left the city soon after.

About a month after his departure Miss Posz received a letter containing a formal proposal and signed "A. E. Allen." The would-be suitor said that he had assumed the name of Adams while in Rochester. Several other letters followed, after which, on June 4, Adams, or Allen, again returned to Rochester and renewed his suit in person, remaining two days. At this time Miss Posz called his attention to the discrepancy in names, whereupon he said his real name was Adams.

Miss Posz made light of the whole affair, discussing it jokingly with girl friends at her rooming house. One of the latter said that a friend of hers, a Mrs. Belle Parker, daughter of a Wisconsin minister, had a similar experience and was soon to be married to the ardent wooer. Miss Posz wrote to Mrs. Parker in a few days seeking information, and when the letter came it was written in Allen's handwriting and signed Mrs. A. E. Woods. She then compared the signatures Allen and Adams and discovered the handwriting was identical. She consulted with Postmaster Williams of this city who afterwards placed the affair in the hands of the authorities. Later developments showed that Allen, under the name of Woods, married Mrs. Parker, her father performing the ceremony, and that they went to the Dells on a honeymoon trip, and that he left a few days later under the plea of important business interests in Los Angeles. Allen is said to have married another girl in Mason City, Ia., last October, under the name of Reed, deserting her just before going to Rochester.

Many were wounded on both sides as the Italians retaliated and police surrounded the quarter to protect the foreigners.

It is possible that the above clash is the one described in Central News dispatches from Corfu to London. The Central News located the anti-Italian disturbance at Patras, a Greek town of about 35,000 inhabitants.

N. Y. GIVES MILLION FOR STRICKEN JAPAN

METROPOLIS EXPECTED TO DONATE SUM NEARLY EQUAL THAT ASKED OF NATION

New York, Sept. 8.—New York has passed its goal of $1,000,000 in the nation's campaign for $5,000,000 to aid sufferers in stricken Japan. Members of the New York chapter of the Japan relief committee of the American Red Cross announced the "sky as the limit" in its drive for funds and it was predicted, unofficially, that the metropolis alone would donate a sum almost equal to that asked from the entire country.

Contributions, many of them for thousands of dollars each, came so fast that the committee was unable to tabulate them. At noon it was announced unofficially that donations had reached $1,000,000.

Many organizations had started separate drives for funds, their totals to be sent in later to help swell the grand total for the city. Churches prepared for special collections at next Sunday's services, and along brightly lighted Broadway theatrical men were planning benefit performances.

The largest contribution announced was $150,000, given by the United States Steel corporation and its subsidiaries.

MEADOW AND PEAT FIRES GIVING TROUBLE ON WILLIAMS FARM

A crew of 12 or 15 men are fighting fire on the M. M. Williams farm west of Pine Grove park today and have been doing so for the past two or three days. Meadow fires broke out there last Friday and yesterday peat fires started in the north meadow. The fires, while not particularly serious at the present time, would soon be fanned into a terrible conflagration if a strong wind should come up and the owners of the farm are making every possible effort to extinguish the flames before the weather changes. A forest fire ranger arrived here from Brainerd today to supervise the fire fighting.—Little Falls Daily Transcript.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The Seaboard Air Line railway notified the United States railroad labor board that 2,700 shop employes had been granted 2 cents an hour increase, effective Aug. 1, 1923, and amounting to $100,000 annually.

The general chairmen of the railroads, representing 125,000 men, will ask for this increase in the new contract with the railroads. They plan to restore the 1921 peak wages. It is regarded as presaging action of the Big Four brotherhoods to regain $85,000,000 pay cut made by the United States Railroad Labor board.

N. Y. GIVES MILLION FOR STRICKEN JAPAN

METROPOLIS EXPECTED TO DONATE SUM NEARLY EQUAL THAT ASKED OF NATION

New York, Sept. 8.—New York has passed its goal of $1,000,000 in the nation's campaign for $5,000,000 to aid sufferers in stricken Japan. Members of the New York chapter of the Japan relief committee of the American Red Cross announced the "sky as the limit" in its drive for funds and it was predicted, unofficially, that the metropolis alone would donate a sum almost equal to that asked from the entire country.

Contributions, many of them for thousands of dollars each, came so fast that the committee was unable to tabulate them. At noon it was announced unofficially that donations had reached $1,000,000.

Many organizations had started separate drives for funds, their totals to be sent in later to help swell the grand total for the city. Churches prepared for special collections at next Sunday's services, and along brightly lighted Broadway theatrical men were planning benefit performances.

The largest contribution announced was $150,000, given by the United States Steel corporation and its subsidiaries.

MEADOW AND PEAT FIRES GIVING TROUBLE ON WILLIAMS FARM

A crew of 12 or 15 men are fighting fire on the M. M. Williams farm west of Pine Grove park today and have been doing so for the past two or three days. Meadow fires broke out there last Friday and yesterday peat fires started in the north meadow. The fires, while not particularly serious at the present time, would soon be fanned into a terrible conflagration if a strong wind should come up and the owners of the farm are making every possible effort to extinguish the flames before the weather changes. A forest fire ranger arrived here from Brainerd today to supervise the fire fighting.—Little Falls Daily Transcript.

MINERS, OPERATORS AGREE; NOW DRAFT A NEW CONTRACT

WHEN FINISHED IT WILL BE SUBMITTED TO A TRI-DISTRICT CONVENTION

MINERS ABANDON DEMAND FOR CHECKOFF AND 20 PER CENT WAGE INCREASE

(By United Press)

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—The end of the anthracite strike is at hand. The miners and operators, having agreed to Governor Pinchot's proposals for a settlement, are now engaged in drafting a new contract.

When it is finished it will be submitted to a tri-district convention at Wilkesbarre for ratification, and the suspension will be declared at an end. The miners, in accepting this basis of settlement, abandoned their demand for the checkoff and a 20 per cent wage increase. The operators agreed to a 10 per cent wage increase and recognition of the union..

At 7:15 p. m. yesterday the operators and miners resumed their joint sessions, having been brought together through the intercession of Pinchot. They adjourned late in the evening, and it was understood substantial progress toward drafting a new contract had been reached.

Pinchot last night received a telegram of congratulation from President Coolidge.

Agree on Main Details

Harrisburg, Sept. 8—Points of the agreement which will send anthracite miners back to work were discussed today when operators and miners' representatives went into conference with Governor Pinchot. Some dispute is expected over details, and it may take some time to reach a conclusion.

Both sides, however, are now in accord over main details.

Rapid Strides Toward Settlement

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—Rapid strides toward settlement of all disputes in the contract between anthracite operators and miners were made today when employers and union men met this afternoon in the capital.

It was stated this morning that both sides confidently expected to finish work before midnight.

GUY BAUMGARTEN DIED

Two Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgarten Succumbs to Pneumonia

Guy Baumgarten, two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgarten, 1303 Whitely Ave., N. E., died this morning, death resulting from pneumonia, caused by burns.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Baumgarten was canning, and a can of tomatoes which she was sealing exploded, scalding the little child very badly about the neck and chest. This developed into pneumonia which proved fatal.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at two o'clock from the Mill mission in Northeast Brainerd, and interment made in Evergreen cemetery.

ONLY 14 LICENSES TO WED IN AUGUST

As Disclosed by the Records of Clerk of District Court W. A. M. Johnstone

SEPTEMBER IS PICKING UP

Out of Town Bridegrooms Two From Cook County, Ill., and One From Cook County, N. D.

Only fourteen marriage licenses were issued during the month of August, according to the records in County Clerk W. A. M. Johnstone's office. Marriages during August, usually one of the big wedding months of the summer, took a slump last month, but the first week of September seems to be making up for what its predecessor lacked.

August 3rd—Frank Jarbo and Elizabeth Kutka.

August 7th—Frank Smude and Ermgard Lena Marohn.

August 7th—Martin Arneson and Alada Jacobson.

August 10th—Harold Hanson, Aitkin County and Agnes E. Blegen.

August 11th—Daniel Hanson and Elizabeth Phelps.

August 11th—William B. Ziff, Cook County, Ill., and Denea Fischer.

August 13th—Lonzo R. Cuff and Hazel Goldie Finn.

August 14th—David R. Olson and Esther Claus.

August 17th—Earl Bedard and Beatrice McMahan.

August 20th—John P. Burns, Cook County, Ill., and Sigrid A. Wisten.

August 25th—Clifford Bourassa and Carolina Duneman.

August 27th—Edward J. Belnap, Cook County, N. D., and Apolleona Huff.

August 28th—Clement A. Ryan and Helen M. McCarthy.

August 30th—Herman Arthur Mass and Doris June Grondin.

Troop No. 2 held an outdoor meeting at the home of their scoutmaster, L. S. Zakariasen, on their regular meeting night this week.

The troop assembled at 6 p. m. and on arrival at Mr. Zakariasen's home were much surprised to find a long table across the rear of the lawn all decorated with scout emblems, patrol flags and the troop flag displayed on a frame in the center. From the frame work over the table red, white and blue streamers of crepe paper were arranged to divide the table into places for the scouts to sit according to their patrols.

As soon as all were reported "present or accounted for" the troop was arranged for several pictures which were made by Scout Pflock, after which everyone "fell in" for the bountiful meal that had been prepared by the host and his wife, and as most of the fellows still had their camp appetites it did not take any urging on the part of the host to induce them to eat.

Some, however, were evidently undertrained, as it was noticed that several of the fellows asked permission to leave the table before the last course was served (apple pie with two big measures of ice cream) and were seen doing "Scout Pace" down the street in an effort to "shake down" the previous courses and make room for the pie a la mode.

Following the big "feed" those who were able engaged in games on the lawn and listened to stories and original poems told by Ass't S. M. Carl Jepson, after which "fifteen big ones" were given for the host and his wife and everybody wended their way home with a feeling of "Gee! ain't it great to be a Scout."

In this column on Aug. 25th we offered a subscription to Boys Life for the best picture taken at camp by a scout. So far we have had no entries in this contest. Several of the boys had good cameras at camp and must have had some good exposures, so we would like to have those who got good pictures, small or large, turn them in. The rules of the contest were given on Aug. 25th, and those who did not see the article will find in on file at headquarters. Let's have some pictures.

All members fo Troop No. 1 should remember that the first meeting will be held next Monday evening at 7:30 P. M. A number of important matters will come up and every scout should be out.

August 3rd—Frank Jarbo and Elizabeth Kutka.

August 7th—Frank Smude and Ermgard Lena Marohn.

August 7th—Martin Arneson and Alada Jacobson.

August 10th—Harold Hanson, Aitkin County and Agnes E. Blegen.

August 11th—Daniel Hanson and Elizabeth Phelps.

August 11th—William B. Ziff, Cook County, Ill., and Denea Fischer.

August 13th—Lonzo R. Cuff and Hazel Goldie Finn.

August 14th—David R. Olson and Esther Claus.

August 27th—Edward J. Belnap, Cook County, N. D., and Apolleona Huff.

August 28th—Clement A. Ryan and Helen M. McCarthy.

August 30th—Herman Arthur Mass and Doris June Grondin.

The troop assembled at 6 p. m. and on arrival at Mr. Zakariasen's home were much surprised to find a long table across the rear of the lawn all decorated with scout emblems, patrol flags and the troop flag displayed on a frame in the center. From the frame work over the table red, white and blue streamers of crepe paper were arranged to divide the table into places for the scouts to sit according to their patrols.

As soon as all were reported "present or accounted for" the troop was arranged for several pictures which were made by Scout Pflock, after which everyone "fell in" for the bountiful meal that had been prepared by the host and his wife, and as most of the fellows still had their camp appetites it did not take any urging on the part of the host to induce them to eat.

Some, however, were evidently undertrained, as it was noticed that several of the fellows asked permission to leave the table before the last course was served (apple pie with two big measures of ice cream) and were seen doing "Scout Pace" down the street in an effort to "shake down" the previous courses and make room for the pie a la mode.

Following the big "feed" those who were able engaged in games on the lawn and listened to stories and original poems told by Ass't S. M. Carl Jepson, after which "fifteen big ones" were given for the host and his wife and everybody wended their way home with a feeling of "Gee! ain't it great to be a Scout."

In this column on Aug. 25th we offered a subscription to Boys' Life for the best picture taken at camp by a scout. So far we have had no entries in this contest. Several of the boys had good cameras at camp and must have had some good exposures, so we would like to have those who got good pictures, small or large, turn them in. The rules of the contest were given on Aug. 25th, and those who did not see the article will find in on file at headquarters. Let's have some pictures.

All members fo Troop No. 1 should remember that the first meeting will be held next Monday evening at 7:30 P. M. A number of important matters will come up and every scout should be out.

CHANGED CONDITIONS DEMAND CHANGE

IN spite of the pessimism in England, resulting from the unemployment which constitutes England's major problem, there are writers who are pointing out that what is true of the present has been true of the past and that all that is necessary is a recognition of the facts that readjustments must be made in the face of changed conditions. These writers point out that industry and commerce must re-appraise the world's needs and, after having done so, make necessary readjustments in industry and commerce for the purpose of meeting those needs and thereby restoring those who are unemployed to their places in the industry of the country.

A few months ago a writer in the Manchester Guardian said: "Lancashire has to face disaster or decay. And the cotton trade, great as it is, isn't everything. We are a great engineering center and set up our machinery in all quarters of the globe. One of Lancashire's specialties is textile machinery, and the looms and spindles which compete with us in India, China or Japan may come from places like Oldham and Bury. And why, it has sometimes been asked, do we contribute so effectually to the competition which the pessimists of a great generation predicted would undo us? Well, that has been thought out and argued out. If we refused to supply machinery to our competitors it would give an immense impetus to others who are capable of supplying it. Certainly it would not prevent competition, though it might delay it a little. We are all the better for this important industry, and in spite of it our cotton trade manages to hold its own. When our commodities are imitated and produced in other countries—and that isn't always easy—we make something else. There is a sense in which we live by our wits."

Such a statement is likely to check the criticisms of those who would remedy the ills of the commercial and industrial order by waving a wand. England manufactures machinery in Lancashire which is used by competitors of the textile interests of the same county but she must do this to employ her people. At this time, as at other times in the past, a readjustment is necessary. This readjustment will require the best thought and initiative of a people who have survived more than one critical period. Unless the wits of the industrial and commercial leaders are sharpened so that they can meet this emergency by making the necessary changes in manufacturing and in markets the people will face disaster or decay. If the problem is beyond the intelligence of the nation's leaders this must happen. The people cannot save themselves by legislation or in any other way, they depend upon their industrialists.

GREATER MOVIE SEASON

SINCE Will Hays assumed the task of "umpire" between the producers of motion pictures and the public there has been a marked improvement in the quality of the pictures. When the former postmaster general entered upon this position there were those who spoke of him as the "conscience" of the producers and distributors, suggesting that he was to be a kind of buffer behind whom the producers and distributors would hide while he sought to quiet the criticisms of a public aroused through the screening of objectionable pictures. Such writers were mistaken, for the former postmaster general brought to his new office tested ability, political sagacity and a knowledge of the public, and the services he has already rendered assure the public that the quality of the pictures offered in the future will be of a better grade.

The Greater Movie Season which opened August 25 and will continue until September, 1924, looks to the realization of the object expressed in the caption, that is, better movies. To secure these the public is invited to cooperate with the producers and exhibitors who are ready to serve the public because their commercial interests will be best secured through serving the public and supplying what the public demands.

Only through the cooperation of the public will a better movie standard be reached. Censorship must fail, and already several states have voted against state censorship; criticism that stands off and condemns will not do much good. The movie is here to stay and Thomas A. Edison considers it the greater power for influencing the public in America today. The producers possess this power, and by its use they might develop an interest in low grade pictures, but to their credit it must be said that this is not their intention. They are pledged to produce better pictures and they are attempting to fulfill this pledge. If it is fulfilled it will be through the cooperation of the people who wish to have better pictures. Those who have criticized pictures in the past and have stayed away from the theatres, because of some one picture they saw which insulted their sense of what was proper, will do well to encourage this attempt to produce and exhibit better pictures. Unless those who want good pictures patronize the theatres that exhibit good pictures, the time must come when the producers will produce the kind of pictures demanded, not by the morally upright who stay away from the theatres, but by the sensationalists and sensualists who are always ready to rush in when something is advertised which suggests that they will find what they enjoy.

It is certain that there will be scenes that certain persons will condemn but pictures cannot be artificial and truthful. The world is not a paradise, not yet, and if the pictures are to be true to life they will offend some as life itself offends some. Better the offense of these than artificiality that misrepresents life and like much other teaching is not helpful when the day of disillusionment comes. Nevertheless, masks have their place in this world and it would be well to have the mask drawn over some scenes when the unmasked face and form is revolting. There are different ways of telling the truth and the naked truth is not always beneficial either in conversation or on the screen.

THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA

WHILE the United States and Canada stand before the world as nations that have kept the peace for a century there are certain causes of irritation that ought to be removed. Continuous irritation tends to develop irritability and irritability may result in a hasty decision that might bring about ill-feeling between two peoples who have been getting along well together.

In speaking to members of the Canadian Bar association at its recent meeting in Montreal, Secretary of States Charles E. Hughes said, "While I do not undertake to speak officially upon this subject (the subject of boundary waters), I may take the liberty of stating as my personal view that we should do much to foster our friendly relations and to remove sources of misunderstanding and possible irritation, if we were to have a permanent body of our most distinguished citizens acting as a commission * * *."

The secretary of state is moving slowly but surely in the direction of cooperative relations between the United States and other peoples, and many who are fearful of closer relations with Europe will agree that anything that tends to improve the relations between Canada and the United States and to prevent misunderstanding that might lead to irritation should be tried.

The North American idea, which is common to the peoples at both sides of the border, should be protected by cordial relations between the two peoples. It is unthinkable that anything should arise that would bring them into conflict, but, even though this may be commonly felt, no stone should be left unturned in the effort to guarantee a speedy settlement of such questions as may arise relative to the boundary and other subjects that may come up from time to time.

THE dates for the world's series are fixed tentatively. The Minnesota State Fair is a thing of the past. Next comes football, and everybody gets a chance to enjoy what they like as the season rolls along.

FOREST fires are expensive luxuries for which the public must pay in the end. The public which pays should sit on those who enjoy the luxury.

ITALY or the League of Nations! Which? Each seems fearful of the other. Who will call the bluff?

FLUSH THE KIDNEYS BEFORE BREAKFAST

Drink Lots of Water, Also Take a Little Salts if Back Hurts

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irrritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advt.

Sauces You Never Forget

Certain hotels have a country-wide reputation for their wonderful meals. It is usually in the preparation of some famous sauce that a chef gains his reputation. There is hardly a chef of repute who would be without KITCHEN BOUQUET. Try this mushroom sauce:

MUSHROOM SAUCE

1 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet
4 tablespoons flour
salt, pepper, paprika
4 tablespoons butter
¼ cup cream
1½ cups stock
6 dried mushrooms, cut fine and soaked 15 minutes in stock

Melt butter in saucepan, add flour, cook 2 minutes, add stock with mushrooms and cook 10 minutes, stirring often; add cream, Kitchen Bouquet and seasonings. Bring to boiling point and serve over broiled steak.

Then you will know why chefs regard so highly

TAKING "DON'T" OUT OF BOYDOM

SCOUT OFFICE IN COURT HOUSE

Scouting Inculcates Discipline, "Playing Square," Makes Better Boys and Men

It happened Friday of this week. I had been asked to discover "something new," something different, and yet bearing upon the civic life of Brainerd.

"A New Civic Asset," a title I had seen in a magazine story flashed across my mind; "The Boy Scouts." And as the new Crow Wing county scout executive had just gone by the office I started on his trail.

I found him in the new scout headquarters in the Court House.

Figuring my own time as well as his, I waded right in:

"What is this Boy Scout movement?"

The Scout Executive smiled. "Pretty tall question I am thinking," he said. "Would you mind reading that first?" And this is what he handed me:

"On my honor I will do my best:
To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the scout law.
To help other people at all times.
To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

"Well," I remarked, "what is that?"

"That, he said slowly, is the Scout pledge. Over one million boys from 12 to 18 years of age have voluntarily taken that pledge in this country, and over 2,000,000 more have taken the same pledge in more than 30 other countries where Boy Scouts are organized.

I had known boys a good many years—had been one, in fact, so my next question was straight to the point: "Why?"

Again the executive smiled, in fact, as I remember it now, he smiled most of the time. He replied with another question:

"How did you like to have anybody say to you when you were a boy: don't smoke, don't drink, don't hang onto bobs, don't ask so many questions?"

Yes, I remembered, I had heard some of these "don'ts" and I did not like them—and said so, not then but now.

"All right," he continued, "that's where we come in. The Scout program is chock full of "do's"; you won't find a don't in the lot."

I had come with the idea that the assignment was to be easy but somehow I began to feel uneasy. "Would you mind elucidating a little?" I asked.

"Certainly," he replied, "if you will read this first."

I did not come to read, but I did not want to be discourteous, so I started off:

A scout is trustworthy.
A scout is loyal.
A scout is helpful.
A scout is friendly.
A scout is courteous.
A scout is kind.
A scout is obedient.
A scout is cheerful.
A scout is thrifty.
A scout is brave.
A scout is clean.
A scout is reverent.

"How do you get boys to subscribe to and live such a law?" I asked.

I shall never forget the answer, it helped me more than anything to appreciate the "new-discovered" land of boyhood and to respect this wonderful movement.

"Because the average boy would rather be good than bad" he said.

"Because he has a keen sense of honor and justice, and loves the outdoors, heroes, camping; because he wants to know—he is a dynamo that must run, and we simply hook his energy to something useful and "do a good turn daily," for that is his motto. Do we keep him busy? Rather, look at these first class requirements, and before he can even start this work he must have gone through the tenderfoot and second class requirements, which are not simple either.

Enlist and train a boy as a tenderfoot—the first degree in scoutcraft.

No, it had been no task to read or listen to all of that, I only wished that I might be a boy again, so I might do all of these things; always we tried to think of "stunts" but there was no one to help us, to systematize it.

By now I know that the title I had seen, "A New Civic Asset," was all right, for it was only a short jump from the boy side to the civic side, and I was thinking right along with the executive when he continued:

"Scouting helps all around. In school he conforms more readily to dicipline, for he knows its value, at home he is more courteous and appreciative of his duties, at play he keeps his mind constantly not for myself, but for my side', and 'play square'. And through the idea of service he quickly comes to appreciate his responsibilities and privileges as a citizen.

"Of the thousands of things that scouts have done in other cities, and which they will do in Brainerd, if the men who are wanted to lead will

WATERMELON TIME AT ELKS

GROWN ON BIG IOWA FARM

Delegates Report on State Convention of Elks, Dr. A. K. Cohen Tells of Eastern Trip

It was watermelon night at the Elks meeting Thursday evening. Clem Healey, member of Muscatine, Iowa lodge No. 304, was host and carved the hearts right out of a half dozen melons and distributed them to hungry members. The Healeys have an immense farm in Iowa which raises huge crops of cabbage, watermelons, corn, etc. "Linwood Farm" measures its cabbage shipments by the carload, 45 having been shipped this season. Some of the big Muscatine melons can be seen down at the Peoples Supply.

The committee named three months ago reported on a clock as a present for Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Parker. The latter were presented with this token of esteem because of work done in behalf of Elkdom. On the committee were three Past Exalted Rulers, Judge J. T. Sanborn, C. D. Johnson and Fred Allison.

Delegates reported on the state convention at Hibbing and the hope was expressed that Brainerd may be able to get the 1925 convention. Walter F. Kunitz spoke on the need of a social worker at the hospitals in Rochester as recommended by the state association.

Secretary John J. Cummins reviewed work of the lodge.

Dr. A. K. Cohen spoke of his estern trip, of the Elks homes visited, of the big initiation of 570 members at Waukegan, Illinois, where a home is soon to be built. In ritualistic work, said the doctor, Brainerd Elks compared favorably with any teams he had heard. In speaking of tourists camps, the doctor said there wasn't one that even compared with Brainerd.

Ahlgrim-Rutledge

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served to 25 guests.

The newlyweds will make their home in Minneapolis.

Unity Lodge and Florence Rebekah Lodge Pay Their Respects To Him

HAS GIVEN SPLENDID SERVICE

Speakers Included Grand Patriarch M. H. McDivitt of the Odd Fellows

Unity lodge No. 119, Rushworth Encampment and Florence Rebekah lodge, united on Wednesday evening to pay their respects to G. S. McCulloch, for the splendid service he has rendered Odd Fellowship during his many years as a member of the order.

The committee on arrangements had prepared a short program for the occasion. O. J. Bouma presided and after a short opening speech, introduced Rev. Fred Errington, who dwelt on Mr. McCulloch as a man, paying a high tribute to him on behalf of old friends, neighbors and citizens of Brainerd. "The test of Oddfellowship, or any institution," said Rev. Errington, "is the quality of the product it turns out, and George McCulloch is a strong advertisement for the order, an example of what it has accomplished in helping to make a man.'

Miss Georgia Drexler sang several selections, accompanied by Miss Marion Opsahl, and John Holvick gave two readings.

Past Grand Master and Grand Patriarch M. H. McDivitt, was then called upon. His address was inspiring. He told of the call for assistance that had come to him while serving as Grand Master, from the sovereign grand lodge, for aid to the brothers in Germany.

Remembering the wounded American boys and those who lie in Flanders fields, it seemed hard to ask the lodges of Minnesota to aid the people who were responsible for the war. Mr. McDivitt said that he was reductant to send out this appeal, but was thrilled with the example of tolerance and brotherhood that came from the generous response from all of the subordinate lodges in the state, which showed more than anything else could possibly do, the spirit of true Oddfellowship.

Grand Patriarch McDivitt then asked the warden to escort Brother McCulloch to the chair, and after reciting the many positions of honor and responsibility held by Brother McCulloch, and the esteen in which he is held by Odd Fellows of Minnesota, he presented him with a beautiful jewel, representing the three branches of the order combined with the jewels of the Past Grand Patriarch and the Past Grand Representative, which the speaker said was a tardy recognition of the service rendered by Brother McCulloch.

This jewel is especially significant, since it represents the achievements of many years of labor for Oddfellowship and the high regard in which its owner is held, not only in this state, but nationally. It will admit its wearer, without regalia, to any Oddfellow lodge in the world.

Brother George McCulloch has an enviable record during his long membership in the order. He has served the local lodge in all of its offices, was elected deputy grand master in 1903, grand patriarch in 1909 and grand representative in 1910, to the grand encampment in Atlanta, Georgia. He has been a member of the official board in charge of the Odd Fellows home at Notrhfield for the past twelve years, and has attended grand lodge every year except one, since 1893.

Following the program a luncheon was served and the balance of the evening spent informally.

FIRPO MADE TWO MISTAKES, SAYS FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 8.—Luis Angel Firpo was guilty of two great mistakes in making the arrangements leading up to his fight with Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship, in the opinion of many good judges.

Firpo should have waited another year before accepting a match with the champion and, instead of dispensing with the services of Jimmy DeForest he should have given himself over entirely to the man who made Dempsey the champion, it was pointed out.

The South American not only made a great mistake when he cut loose from DeForest, but he hurt the show, others say, because many fans would have believed he had a good chance to win the title if he had been brought along by DeForest.

After watching Firpo in all his big fights and in training for all his fights, it is almost obvious that the chances of the South American in his big fight do not depend in the slightest upon his trainer.

The smartest traienr and teacher in the world could never accomplish a thing with Firpo, and for that reason it follows that the South American would have no better chance next year against Dempsey than he would this season, figuring, of course, that Dempsey will not ruin himself in another year.

Firpo knows as much right now as he ever will know, and he is just as good now as he ever will be. He has the brain to profit by competent instruction, but he hasn't the temperament to improve himself by such.

When Jimmy DeForest started working with Firpo he tried above everything else to teach the South American to use his left hand, to hit straight with his right hand, and to educate him in some of the fundamentals of defensive boxing.

Firpo showed results in the gymnasium when he was training for his fight with Bill Brennan, and when he was working to get ready for his bout with Jess Willard he really looked like he was learning something. While he was not fancy with it, he used his left hand quite effectively, he stepped around with speed that few thought he possessed, and he was able to box much better than the novice he was thought to be.

Everything he learned and exhibited in the gymnasium was lost when he went into the ring with Willard. When he was hurt he forgot everything but his killing instinct. He dropped his left hand at his side and tore in swinging his right arm like a huge club. He forgot to box or try to defend himself. He just fought like a maniac, and he won.

TAKING THE DON'T OUT OF BOYDOM

only come forward, I need not go into detail, as you as a newspaper man read the stories in your press dispatches every day; but I will say this, that when you read of some worthy thing that has been done by an individual scout that it was only written that it was done by a "Boy Scout"—for it is an unwritten law among all true scouts that "personal" mention be avoided if possible, and usually when the thing has been accomplished and the public begins to look around for the doer they find that it was a "Scout" but they don't know which one."

Do you wonder that the Dispatch reporter felt happy to think that he had decided to explore the Boy Scouts? Do you wonder that after that I asked about a million questions, such as, how do you organize, how do you find the men, how are they trained, where do you meet, what happens to the boys after they become first class scouts, when did scouting start in Japan?

"That proves that you are getting interested," was the only answer I could get out of Mr. Executive, adding, "Tenderfoots seldom ask questions, second class scouts quite a few, first class—oh, enough to keep you busy the rest of your life. I think it better that you come again some other time, Columbus only discovered America, he didn't settle it, nor try to fathom the philosophy of the Indians, nor wonder much about the problems the colonists would have, or when wars will end."

"But," he concluded, and that wistful smile came back, "I have walked your streets during the day, and sometimes at night. I have tried to find out what your boys are doing, where they live, in what they are interested, and I found out enough to know that Brainerd still has a boy problem.

All around us there are litttle eddies of vice, of sin, of temptation, of idleness, and little by little they become whirlpools, and sooner or later, if our people do not wake up to the fact that we do have a boy problem, we will find that they have joined the great army of the hopeless the unemployed, at best, driftwood on the great sea of life.

And all because, when their hearts were young and their bodies strong and they had a desire to do right, there was no one to show them.

It is men we want, not boys, they are coming into the Scouts by the thousands every year. Men to lead men to give of their time, a few hours a week, one, or at most two evenings a week; men who love boys and still remember when they were boys, men who will give their knowledge, their enthusiasm, their hearts their companionship, to help boys be healthier, happier, more alert, more fit to take their place in the world fortified by higher ideals and wide sympathies. Yes we need men in Brainerd and in Crow Wing county need them badly, to lead the boys who are standing in line today, waiting for the chance to join the Scouts.

But they will come, for the call of the boy must be heard, and that is why your citizenship has come forward and organized a county Council so that the gospel of "Character Building and Citizenship Training" may be carried to the men through this office and the men who compose the Council.

Then we will have a greater civic spirit, more co-operation, a better government, a real democracy, within our city, county, state and country."

I did not sleep as soundly last night as usual. I could see "gangs," some of them innocent enough, but others sinister. I could see also among the good boys, the better boys so many wasted opportunities, and ahead of us so much to do in Brainerd and the county. But today I am more hopeful that we will find a way out of many of our problems, for the Boy Scouts are here—to stay, to help us to wake up to an appreciation of the greatest asset we have, the human spirit, to show us how to conserve the resource and how to direct it into the channels of health, civic, home, and school life, generating that which we need most of all, brotherhood, citizenship and character.

And as I look back over the "laws of the Scout" I wonder whether we as men are any or all of these things, and if not why not.

Surely if we will take the law of the scout, and become "men scouts," there will be a new conception of the things that need be to make our city, and our county, a better place in which we will all enjoy the best things of life.

Many of us, as members of mens organizations, have our "code of ethics," which we are proud to have displayed in our office or place of business, and I am now of an opinion that we might greatly enhance the value of those "codes" by attaching to them the laws of the Boy Scouts of America.

CHICAGO JURY HAS TREAT

See Fight Film for Nothing But FAIL TO DETECT CULPRIT

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Seeking the thread which would unravel the mysterious advent of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight films into Chicago, the federal grand jury pulled the shades down and labored through the 15 rounds of the fight.

A conspiracy must be proved. So far James J. McGrath, local promoter, is the only person found to have any official connection with the films. He claims it takes more than one to conspire.

After the pictures had been seized from the Rose theatre at the corner of Madison and Dearborn streets, they were kept in the custody of the marshall.

A special projection machine was installed in the grand jury room. All of the keenest minds on the staff of the district attorney were lined up to watch every inch of the film in order to instantly catch the slightest trace to the conspirators.

They were buttressed by a phalanx from the marshal's office ready to do or die doing deputy duty in nabbing any suspected conspirator pointed out by the legal battery.

And the fight went on, round by round, emphasized and punctuated by half suppressed exclamations on the part of the jurors, anxious to bring in indictments as soon as the marshals and the attorneys uncovered the conspirators.

Finally the last shadow flickered from the screen. The shades were raised.

"That guy Gibbons was sure a game rooster," one of the jurors started to comment, when he was interrupted by District Attorney Edwin L. Weisl.

"I must say," said Mr. Weisl, "that a careful inspection has failed to give me any clue as to the guilty parties. Next week we shall call witnesses who will perhaps give us more enlightenment. The marshal will take charge of the pictures."

"If Tom could have stuck out three more rounds—just three more I'll bet—" resumed the interrupted juror. But a good time was had by all.

JIMMY DELANEY WINS REFEREE'S DECISION OVER JIMMY SHIRLEY

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 8—Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul, won a 10 round referee's decision over Jimmy Shirley of Denver here in the main event of the American Legion boxing bill. Both of the fighters are light heavyweights. Delaney outboxed and outfought Shirley throughout the entire 10 rounds. Shirley's knockout punch was not in evidence at any time during the fight.

AMUSEMENTS

Vaudeville at New Park on Saturday and Sunday

Hay and Steffin, a black face team, will be the vaudeville attraction at the New Park tonight and Sunday, in conjunction with the big special picture, "Brass."

Regular prices will prevail.

Alice Brady Fine in "Anna Ascends"

To refer to "Anna Ascends," a new Paramount picture showing at the Lyceum last time tonight, is equivalent to saying Alice Brady ascends. For Miss Brady unquestionably will ascend in public favor by her portrayal in this picture. It is a screen version of the play in which she scored one of her greatest successes. Such prominent players as Robert Ellis, David Powell and Nita Naldi, all of whom have important roles, are also likely to be rewarded for their work by rising a bit higher in the favor of the movie patrons.

Should Wives Be Beaten

Has a man the right to beat his wife?

Yes, say the English and Europeans.

No, claim the Americans.

Which is right?

"Brass" will be shown at the New Park tonight and Sunday. It is one of the most widely discussed stories of the year, because it reveals a cross-section of life as no other story has ever done. The picture carries the same heart-throbs and interest, showing the drifting from one love affair to another that characterizes the divorced and unhappy.

Pola Negri and Conrad Nagel in the Paramount Picture 'Bella Donna' A George Fitzmaurice Production

Travelers who have visited Cairo and the lower regions of the Nile will find in Pola Negri's first American picture, "Bella Donna," which comes to the Lyceum Theatre Sunday, more of the real Egypt than they were ever privileged to see during their actual visits.

According to Dudley Stuart Corlett, special technical adviser and a noted Egyptologist, real Egypt can only be found far from the points of contact with European civilization. Inasmuch as "Bella Donna" calls for the Egypt of the Egyptians, Corlett has supplied the picture with genuine and little known scenic backgrounds.

Perhaps the most beautiful and slightly known is the temple of Abu Simbel in upper Egypt, which was reconstructed for this picture by George Fitzmaurice, the producer. This structure, carved from the living rock on the bank of the Nile, is so constructed that its interior is illuminated by the rising sun for only five minutes of the day just at dawn.

Men to lead men to give of their time, a few hours a week, one, or at most two evenings a week; men who love boys and still remember when they were boys, men who will give their knowledge, their enthusiasm, their hearts their companionship, to help boys be healthier, happier, more alert, more fit to take their place in the world fortified by higher ideals and wider sympathies. Yes we need men in Brainerd and in Crow Wing county need them badly, to lead the boys who are standing in line today, waiting for the chance to join the Scouts.

But they will come, for the call of the boy must be heard, and that is why your citizenship has come forward and organized a county Council so that the gospel of "Character Building and Citizenship Training" may be carried to the men through this office and the men who compose the Council.

Then we will have a greater civic spirit, more co-operation, a better government, a real democracy, within our city, county, state and country."

I did not sleep as soundly last night as usual. I could see "gangs," some of them innocent enough, but others sinister. I could see also among the good boys, the better boys so many wasted opportunities, and ahead of us so much to do in Brainerd and the county. But today I am more hopeful that we will find a way out of many of our problems, for the Boy Scouts are here—to stay, to help us to wake up to an appreciation of the greatest asset we have, the human spirit, to show us how to conserve the resource and how to direct it into the channels of health, civic, home, and school life, generating that which we need most of all, brotherhood, citizenship and character.

And as I look back over the "laws of the Scout" I wonder whether we as men are any or all of these things, and if not why not.

Surely if we will take the law of the scout, and become "men scouts," there will be a new conception of the things that need be to make our city, and our county, a better place in which we will all enjoy the best things of life.

Many of us, as members of mens organizations, have our "code of ethics," which we are proud to have displayed in our office or place of business, and I am now of an opinion that we might greatly enhance the value of those "codes" by attaching to them the laws of the Boy Scouts of America.

CHICAGO JURY HAS TREAT

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Seeking the thread which would unravel the mysterious advent of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight films into Chicago, the federal grand jury pulled the shades down and labored through the 15 rounds of the fight.

A conspiracy must be proved. So far James J. McGrath, local promoter, is the only person found to have any official connection with the films. He claims it takes more than one to conspire.

After the pictures had been seized from the Rose theatre at the corner of Madison and Dearborn streets, they were kept in the custody of the marshall.

A special projection machine was installed in the grand jury room. All of the keenest minds on the staff of the district attorney were lined up to watch every inch of the film in order to instantly catch the slightest trace to the conspirators.

They were buttressed by a phalanx from the marshal's office ready to do or die doing deputy duty in nabbing any suspected conspirator pointed out by the legal battery.

And the fight went on, round by round, emphasized and punctuated by half suppressed exclamations on the part of the jurors, anxious to bring in indictments as soon as the marshals and the attorneys uncovered the conspirators.

Finally the last shadow flickered from the screen. The shades were raised.

"That guy Gibbons was sure a game rooster," one of the jurors started to comment, when he was interrupted by District Attorney Edwin L. Weisl.

"I must say," said Mr. Weisl, "that a careful inspection has failed to give me any clue as to the guilty parties. Next week we shall call witnesses who will perhaps give us more enlightenment. The marshal will take charge of the pictures."

"If Tom could have stuck out three more rounds—just three more I'll bet—" resumed the interrupted juror. But a good time was had by all.

JIMMY DELANEY WINS REFEREE'S DECISION OVER JIMMY SHIRLEY

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 8—Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul, won a 10 round referee's decision over Jimmy Shirley of Denver here in the main event of the American Legion boxing bill. Both of the fighters are light heavyweights. Delaney outboxed and outfought Shirley throughout the entire 10 rounds. Shirley's knockout punch was not in evidence at any time during the fight.

AMUSEMENTS

Vaudeville at New Park on Saturday and Sunday

Hay and Steffin, a black face team, will be the vaudeville attraction at the New Park tonight and Sunday, in conjunction with the big special picture, "Brass."

Regular prices will prevail.

Alice Brady Fine in "Anna Ascends"

To refer to "Anna Ascends," a new Paramount picture showing at the Lyceum last time tonight, is equivalent to saying Alice Brady ascends. For Miss Brady unquestionably will ascend in public favor by her portrayal in this picture. It is a screen version of the play in which she scored one of her greatest successes. Such prominent players as Robert Ellis, David Powell and Nita Naldi, all of whom have important roles, are also likely to be rewarded for their work by rising a bit higher in the favor of the movie patrons.

Should Wives Be Beaten

Has a man the right to beat his wife?

Yes, say the English and Europeans.

No, claim the Americans.

Which is right?

"Brass" will be shown at the New Park tonight and Sunday. It is one of the most widely discussed stories of the year, because it reveals a cross-section of life as no other story has ever done. The picture carries the same heart-throbs and interest, showing the drifting from one love affair to another that characterizes the divorced and unhappy.

Pola Negri and Conrad Nagel in the Paramount Picture "Bella Donna" A George Fitzmaurice Production

Travelers who have visited Cairo and the lower regions of the Nile will find in Pola Negri's first American picture, "Bella Donna," which comes to the Lyceum Theatre Sunday, more of the real Egypt than they were ever privileged to see during their actual visits.

According to Dudley Stuart Corlett, special technical adviser and a noted Egyptologist, real Egypt can only be found far from the points of contact with European civilization. Inasmuch as "Bella Donna" calls for the Egypt of the Egyptians, Corlett has supplied the picture with genuine and little known scenic backgrounds.

Perhaps the most beautiful and slightly known is the temple of Abu Simbel in upper Egypt, which was reconstructed for this picture by George Fitzmaurice, the producer. This structure, carved from the living rock on the bank of the Nile, is so constructed that its interior is illuminated by the rising sun for only five minutes of the day just at dawn.
